25X1X

1. In June 1950 a builder who had applied for construction work on the runway of the Neuruppin (N 53/4 49) airfield said that the runway was scheduled to be 1.8 km long and 60 meters wide. *
2. Construction work at the field was in full progress on 1 July 1950. The row of masts along the southern edge of the new runway were connected by wires. The observation towers in the northwestern corner of the field were occupied by sentries. **

25X1A

- * [REDACTED] Comment. The length of the runway is believed possible since similar measurements were reported before. [REDACTED]

25X1A

25X1A

- ** [REDACTED] Comment. Light poles along the runway were previously reported. [REDACTED] To date it has not been observed that work was done in night shifts.
